

Immigration Reform: What's at Stake for the Northern Border?

Thursday, November 12, 2009 • 3:00 - 4:30 p.m. • WWU Library Presentation Room

Abstract

Immigration has become an issue of border security as well as an issue of human rights and economic competitiveness. The symposium will focus on the recently released report of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) Independent Task Force on Immigration Reform, its recommendations for changing US immigration policy and how immigration policies and practices apply to Canada-US border security.

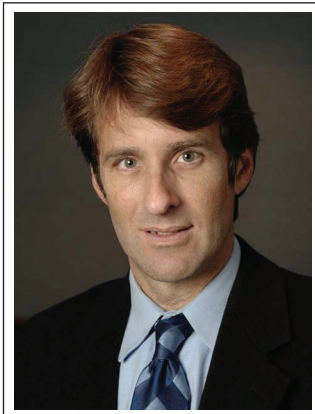

Presenter: Margaret D. Stock

Professor, US Military Academy at West Point

WWU Border Policy Research Institute Visiting Fellow

Margaret Stock, a national expert on immigration, borders and national security, has taught constitutional law, military law, and international relations at the US Military Academy, West Point. She was a member of the CFR Independent Task Force.

Presenter: Edward Alden

Bernard L. Schwartz Senior Fellow at the Council of Foreign Relations

Edward Alden, former Bureau Chief of the Financial Times, is the author of "The Closing of the American Border: Terrorism, Immigration and Security Since 9-11." He was Project Director for the CFR Independent Task Force report.

This event is free and open to the public