Insight Global Education – Semester in Development Program
INTERN, STUDY, VOLUNTEER, WORK
The Semester in Development is the most unique study and intern abroad program for current university students. The program spans 3 months, takes place in Kampala, Uganda, and is designed for students of all backgrounds. What makes the Semester in Development incredibly unique is that it combines studying and interning components, all while overseas in sub-Saharan Africa. While abroad, participants are enrolled as part-time visiting students at Makerere University for one day each week, earning transferable exchange credits. For the remaining four days of the week, participants intern with one of our 20+ NGO or social business partners. Our partner organizations span 5 different sectors, including: public health, the media, social business, advocacy and education. In addition to the study and intern components, participants also have the opportunity to travel either locally within Uganda (eg: rafting on the Nile, chimpanzee tracking, and going on a safari at one of the National Parks) or to neighboring countries (eg: visiting Kigali in Rwanda or vacationing on the island of Zanzibar in Tanzania). Spend the summer developing a holistic understanding of what it’s like to live and work in a developing country while interning, studying, and living in Uganda.

Lattitude Global Volunteering
Volunteer
Lattitude is the original ‘Gap Year’ charity, founded in the UK in 1972. We offer international volunteering positions for people aged 17 to 25. That means we send people to learn and grow by becoming part of a local community in a foreign country. Placements in our 15 country programs last 4 – 11 months. Lattitude volunteers can teach Tibetan monks/nuns in India, teach English in Vietnam or Costa Rica, work with street children in Ecuador, or teach in schools in Ghana. We have many programs in developed countries. During their time overseas our volunteers grow in independence and confidence, they develop new skills, become more aware of diversity and gain a wider international outlook - and often a raised awareness of social, economic and environmental issues in the developing and developed world.
