

Generative Leadership: Building Excellence in Leadership Practice

This program is offered locally in collaboration with the Institute for Generative Leadership, St. Joseph Hospital, and the Critical Junctures Institute.

The Institute for Generative Leadership was founded to provide leadership and management development and education that strengthens the impact of already successful leaders and managers, improves organizational performance, and produces a positive impact in the world.

The Generative Leadership Program (GLP) program addresses what is missing in the traditional understanding of management, and provides the foundation for increased performance through new paradigms and a focus on building skills through practice. This program goes beyond traditional management learning and teaching to focus on:

- New Paradigms of Action, Coordination, & Learning
- Practice, not just Theory
- Relevance and Impact
- Feedback and Coaching
- Replacing Old Habits with New
- Management from Strategy to Execution

www.enterpriseperform.com

mpm@enterpriseperform.com

To obtain more information about attending an Opening Conference for the GLP program in the Whatcom County area, email inquiries to jhickok@peacehealth.org

Led by Robert Dunham, founder of the Institute for Generative Leadership, who has helped thousands of leaders & managers produce breakthrough results for over twenty years, building their skills, careers & companies. Robert works with companies such as Toshiba, Adobe Systems, Discovery Channel, IBM, Scholastic, and Silicon Valley firms. He was previously a VP at Motorola Computer Systems, and COO of Action Technologies. He has taught at Presidio School of Mgmt, co-holds two patents for workflow technology, and holds two degrees from Stanford University.