

Focus

SEXUAL ORIENTATION AND GENDER EXPRESSION OR IDENTITY:

RIGHTS AND RESOURCES

Western Washington University (WWU) is committed to providing faculty, staff and students an environment free of discrimination based upon sexual orientation and gender expression or identity. The Washington Law Against Discrimination (WLAD) protects employees and students from discrimination in employment, housing and public accommodations. WWU policy follows this statute and works to foster a campus community that is welcoming and supportive.

Whether you are lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender (LGBT), your sexual orientation cannot be used as a basis to discriminate. Sexual orientation includes heterosexuality, homosexuality, bisexuality, and gender expression or identity.

WESTERN WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Need to File a Complaint?

WWU Polices address discrimination against sexual orientation and gender expression or identity. If you feel you have experienced discrimination in employment or education, based on sexual orientation and gender expression or identity, you may file a complaint in the Equal Opportunity Office.

Retaliation is Prohibited!

You are protected from retaliation if you file a complaint, testify about a complaint, or assist or participate in any way in any proceeding regarding discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender expression or identity.

Resources:

Equal Opportunity Office

360-650-3307 (Voice) WA Relay: 711

Associated Students LGBT Alliance

360-650-6120

Counseling Center

360-650-3164

Crime and Sexual Assault Support Services for students

360-650-3700

LGBT Concerns Committee

lgbtcc@wwu.edu

University Police/Public Safety

360-650-3555

Need More Info?

Visit our website at: <http://www.wwu.edu/eoo>

To request this brochure in alternate formats
call (360) 650-3307 or WA Relay 711

Focus

Sexual Orientation and Gender Expression or Identity:
Rights and Resources

Equal Opportunity Office
516 High Street—OM 345 MS-9021
Bellingham, WA 98225
Phone: 650-3307—Fax: 650-6311
WA Relay: 711